Dear Valued Customer,

We here at the Würth Woodworking Division Companies take your safety seriously. Nothing can slow you down and cost you more profit, than employees that are hurt on the job. Having the proper safety equipment in your shops, not only protects your employees, it also protects your business.

We are excited to present to you our new Würth Safety Program. In the pages of this catalog, you will have 100's of the finest quality safety equipment available for you and your valuable employees.

Woodworking can be a dangerous occupation. By following a few common sense rules, you can decrease the risk of serious injury. Develop the habit of using the following pieces of safety equipment from the start, and you'll never want to work without them.

Safety Glasses

Safety Glasses are the most important piece of safety equipment. There are many styles of safety glasses, but all share the same features, namely impact resistant lenses, and side screens to protect against dust and debris created by power tools, saws and drills.

Hearing Protection

When working with loud power tools and machinery such as routers, surface planers, and joiners, it is wise to wear hearing protection. There are two common types: expandable ear plugs and ear muffs. Ear Muffs tend to provide slightly better protection, but can be very wieldy and cumbersome. Consistent use of hearing protection will help protect you from long-term hearing loss.

Respirators and Face Masks for Woodworking Safety

Sanders, routers, and other power tools can generate a lot of dust. When using these tools, it is a good idea to wear a dust mask, to keep these fine particles from entering your lungs. When spraying varnish or paint,, a respirator is a better choice, to protect you from any harmful effects of using these chemicals.

Hand Protection

Your hands are your most valuable woodworking tool: protect them! We have a wide assortment of cut resistant gloves, latex and nitrile gloves, material handling gloves, and chemical resistant gloves. You have a tough job? We have the right glove!
